- The New York Society Library provides the interlibrary loan service for library material not owned by the New York Society Library and not available for circulation from the New York Public Library.
- A Library member may have up to 3 active interlibrary loan requests at one time.
- A fee may be charged by the lending library. You will be notified of any charges before the Library commits to the loan.

Please submit the completed form to the Circulation Desk staff.

For more information on the Library's interlibrary loan service, including the full policy and FAQs, please see:
